

VISA LETTER

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

I have been fascinated with Japan and its culture since I first visited in 2012. The first thing that ever drew me in was the incredible food. After visiting Japan and seeing how unique the culture is, I have always wanted to spend a significant amount of time to learn more about local customs and traditions. My goal is to speak 10 languages and so I would also love to be fluent in Japanese one day.

Since I love snowboarding and photography, Japan is the ideal destination for a working holiday. My husband and I have spent significant amount travelling the world so we would like to slow down and explore a country a little more thoroughly.

Throughout my travels I have met many Japanese people who spoke very fondly of their home, they were always extremely kind and welcoming with a great sense of humour. From the impression I got from these individuals alone I knew Japan would be a destination I would like to spend some time in one day.

I am very much looking forward to snowboarding in Hokkaido where there is some of the best snow in the world. I am also looking forward to seeing in Japan in a season other than winter as I have only visited it in winter in previous trips.

I am excited to immerse myself in the Japanese culture and can't wait to embrace the full experience.

Thank you.

Regards
